DELVE IN GALLERY GUIDE

While pondering Julie Oakes work, consider:

Where do you see a story?

Where do you see beauty?

IN THE SHOW

On the Eighth Day" after Creation humans were given the land. What have we done? Tongue in cheek, Julie Oakes and Christian Bernard Singer invite us to ponder our relationship to the land.

Julie Oakes is a master storyteller, bringing complex imagery, anthropomorphic play and colour to create significance and beauty.

Christian Bernard Singer uses natural materials to explore consciousness and place in his contemplatively ritualistic practice.

Questions to consider:

What is the relationship of the mammals to their habitat? Do they notice?

Where do you think the materials come from?

What could the wooden stars mean? Do they relate to each other?

DELVING IN

Artist: Christian Bernard Singer, "Down" Series #2

Questions to consider:

What is a co-creative relationship?

Conceptually, what could create the movement in the pine needles?

What could be the significance of natural materials?

What effect does the colour have on you?

Consider how you might portray the amazing qualities of the wind.
